

7 ways to earn money online from home without investment.

-By NG. Solon

Are you looking for easy ways to earn money online? Not a fan of paying money to earn money? You're not alone! In today's digitised world, earning money has become a lot easier through the internet. Now people can easily earn money from the comforts of their home and cut down the wastage of time and expenses on travelling.

The wide networking and easy connectivity of the internet has opened endless possibilities for people who have less hours to spare especially, homemakers and students. The opportunities are immense, A dream come true for individuals who wish to be their own boss. However, there are many fraudulent websites and scammers out there which calls for careful considerations of platforms. Earning money through this avenue is a slow but fulfilling process.

Listed below are 7 easy ways through which you can earn money online from home without investment.

1. Freelancing:

One of the most popular and rewarding way to earn money online is to work as a freelancer. If you are into designing, marketing, programming, this job is for you. This job is a great option for introverts who dislike face to face interaction nevertheless, possessing good communication skills is key.

There are several websites where you can sign up for free such as freelancers.in, worknhire.com. Here you can browse through the listings that match your core skill and apply for it. Payments are done through PayPal or other digital modes once your submitted work is verified and approved by clients. A freelance work can easily earn you $5-$100 depending on the type of work, website and your location.

2. Affiliate Marketing:

You can train yourself by researching and seeking help from others in this field even if you are not a marketing expert. Firstly, this job requires you to set up a website, choose domain followed by templates, layout and design. After which you can sign up on google adsense and start generating links to earn commissions on selected products.

This might/might not incur you some charges depending on the website, but the revenue generated will outweigh the money spent once you curate your niche.

Adding to this, there are many forums on social media platform such as Facebook and twitter where you can get connected with other Affiliates and increase your networks. You need to maintain regular tracks and use specific keywords to keep up with the google algorithm i.e; the more the traffic, the more you earn.

3.E-books:

If you are a writer, you can write on topics that interests you. Choosing a topic you are familiar with will help you in expressing your thoughts accurately and readers to understand you clearly. The value you create with your writing plays an important part and choosing cover designs is key for attraction. It is an accepted knowledge that the higher the review the better it appears on search results.

Upon completion of a book, you can find sites such as; Amazon Kindle publishing where you can sell your works in the form of e-books or paperbacks. It is a win-win transaction where a small commission will be charged by the site on every sale.

4.Instagram and YouTube:

For you to earn through such platforms, you need a good amount of following and your viewership must be strong. It means that Your followers/subscribers are your strength. In short this is how social media influencers monetize their accounts and earn commissions through paid partnership and promotions from various brands.

While it is relatively easier to handle Instagram as compared to YouTube, one needs to know how to create and edit contents that will generate revenue. Funny videos, DIY's, Educational and makeup tutorials are some examples. Being Consistent and uploading regularly is key for maintaining the statistics.

5.Online Surveys:

Nowadays people can also earn by filling up small feedback forms, surveys and Questionnaires that do not take more than 5-30mins. The questions are mostly personal and demand honest answers which you choose from the choices given.

These surveys are conducted by multinational companies for market research purposes and the information you give are well protected. The length of the survey, your profile and your geo-location are some factors that affect the amount you earn. It can range from $1-$20. ySense, yourSurveys, PrizeRebel.in are some of the most reliable sites for earning through Surveys.

6.Content Writing:

You can work as a content writer by writing articles and research papers for companies that hire people for such tasks. What you need is a good proficiency in English along with a strong niche in a chosen area of expertise.

Companies often provide guidelines and specific requirements when looking for content writers and pays for them accordingly. LinkedIn and Internshala are two such platforms among many where you can sign up and hunt jobs according to your preference. You can either work part-time or full-time and earn upto $1-$5 per word or $10-$25 per article.

7.Online Tutoring:

Offering tutorship online is one good way to earn if you have expertise in certain subjects. Being an online tutor can be challenging as one needs a lot of knowledge, do ample amount of research and have high level of patience. Along with earning money, this job will help you in developing Communication as well as interpersonal skills.

There are many sites such as preply, BharatTutors.com, MyPrivateTutor.com where you can create a profile by listing subjects that you can teach along with your credentials and experiences. A teaching demonstration is required before selection after-which is followed by documentation and training. One can earn RsRs.500-Rs.1000 per hour depending on expertise and experience.

While there are many other ways through which you can earn money online, in the end, it all comes down to dedication and patience. The bottomline is that you gain just as much as you invest your time and effort. The online avenue is a competitive process and with the ever growing interests of people around the world in making easy money, One needs to hone the right skill-sets and always stay updated.